Subject: Zoning Ordinance Audit Discussion

Discussion

ACTION REQUESTED:

None. Discussion only.

INTRODUCTION:

The current zoning code has not been comprehensively updated since the 1970s. From time to time, it is critical to review, analyze and update zoning regulations to ensure that they are aligned with City goals and working to achieve desired development outcomes. The City has contracted with HKGi to complete an audit of the zoning code. The zoning code audit will provide a tool for identifying and clarifying code issues, opportunities for improvements, and prioritizing future code updates. Staff from HKGi will be in attendance at the work session to facilitate a discussion on their preliminary analysis. Attached is the approved scope of work to provide Commissioners with an understanding of the project, as well as some background on HKGi.

Introductions

- HKGi is a Twin Cities-based firm established in 1982
- HKGi's expertise:
 - Planning and Zoning
 - Landscape Architecture
 - Urban Design
- Experienced with zoning codes and comprehensive plans
- Our goal is to help communities create places that enrich people's lives

Key Audit Objectives

- Overall structure and usability issues of zoning/subdivision code
- Align zoning/subdivision code with Comprehensive Plan and small area plans
- Zoning districts and supplementary regulations
- Development procedures and standards
 - Site plan review, PUD, subdivision/lot splits

Understanding of the City's Needs

- Zoning/subdivision code overdue for comprehensive review
- Simple development projects complex and time-consuming
- Zoning districts need updating – development barriers, complex formulas, Missing Middle Housing interest
- 2040 Comprehensive Plan includes guidance for more flexible residential development and densities
- Interest in reducing the City's reliance on PUDs and the older planned districts

Structural Issues Identified

- Articles are inconsistent in length, ranging from 1 to 74 pages in length
- Districts
 - Most districts include subdistricts (PRD, PSR, POD, PCD, MDD) which act as individual base districts
 - All 22 base districts exist in one article today
 - Consider separating into multiple articles

Structural Issues Identified

- Uses
 - Update and generalize very specific uses
 - Define each use
 - Create tables to reorganize long lists of allowable uses
- Article 12 Supplementary District Regulations
 - Catch-all article containing many unrelated requirements
 - Relocate provisions so that they are grouped with similar topics
- Topical information is scattered across various articles
 - Definitions; Development procedures

Potential Structural Improvements

- Reorganize and reformat
- Update structure of zoning districts, uses, and standards
- Create updated numbering system

Reorganize and Reformat

- Move frequently-used topics or articles higher up
 - Reduce the amount of information the public would need to wade through before finding relevant requirements
- Group related topics together and on the same structural level
- Use consistent headings across all articles
 - Currently, some articles have divisions, subdivisions, and sections while others have only sections.
 - Eliminate use of “subdivision” heading

Potential Zoning Reorganization

Article #	Article Name
1	Introductory Provisions
2	General Zoning
3	Residential Base Districts
4	Non-Residential Base Districts
5	Overlay Districts
6	Use-Specific Standards

Structure of Districts, Uses, and Standards

- Group similar districts together
- Treat each existing subdistrict as a base district
- Create tables to improve usability and reduce repetitive text
 - Uses tables, lot and site dimensional tables
 - Effective both within a single district as well as in district-to-district comparisons Group standards specific to certain uses together within a single article

Suggested Renumbering System

- Current Numbering System
 - Listed as 36-X
 - Chapter number before hyphen
 - Number after hyphen increases sequentially from 1 to 1717
 - Numerous “reserved” sections to provide opportunity for later additions/amendments

Suggested Renumbering System

- Use consistent headings:
 - Articles
 - Divisions
 - Sections
- Update numbering so that each section is listed as XX-XXXX
 - Eliminates need to create “reserved” sections
 - Aids navigation since each number refers to overarching headings
 - Consistent numbering with same number of digits for each

PUD Districts

- 23 individual PUD districts so far
- Each PUD needs to define its specific allowed uses and dimensional standards
- Are PUDs needed because the base districts aren't working?

Preliminary Audit Findings – Districts

Districts & Subdistricts

- 22 districts/subdistricts is more than needed
- Minimal differences between some subdistricts
 - e.g. POD-1 and POD-2
- No district purpose statements
 - Why are all of these districts and subdistricts needed?

Preliminary Audit Findings – Districts

Allowed Uses

- The districts/subdistricts are restrictive, separate things, rather than flexible in their allowed uses
 - R-2 only allows two-unit dwellings, not even single-family
 - 3 subdistricts only allow senior housing
 - Results in the need for rezoning?
- Allowed uses are cumulative across subdistricts, not easy to see all of the allowed uses
- Uses in the mixed use districts are mostly conditional rather than permitted; typically mixed use districts are more flexible
- Unclear which districts/subdistricts are intended to be mixed use
 - PRD-4, PRD-5, and PSR-4?

Preliminary Audit Findings – Districts

Dimensional Standards

- The city has a lot of non-conforming lots
 - e.g. lot area, width, and depth
- Some dimensional standards are overly complicated
 - Minimum lot area, width, and depth (R-1)
 - Yard setbacks (R-1)
 - Density allowances (PRD/PSR)
- Building height – inconsistencies between overlay district and small area plans and PUDs

Preliminary Audit Findings – Districts

Residential Densities

- Inconsistencies between zoning districts and comprehensive plan LU categories
- Highest density allowed in the zoning districts is much lower than the densities allowed in the comprehensive plan
- Necessitates use of PUDs?

Preliminary Audit Findings – 2040 Plan Densities

Questions

- Concerns about the current base zoning districts?
- Pros and cons of using PUDs vs. base zoning districts?
- Other issues with the usability of the zoning/subdivision codes from a structural standpoint?
- Input regarding the guidance of the 2040 Comprehensive Plan vs. the districts and standards of the zoning code?

Next Steps

Next Steps

(standards for specific uses, different types of setbacks, specific accessory uses, and general provisions)
- Analysis of development procedures (site plan review, PUD, subdivision/lot splits)
- Tech memos
- PC meeting in May/June
